

◀ RUSSIAN DANCER
VICTOR DIK

rehearses a ballet at the American Dance Center in Saratoga Springs last week. He was one of four Russian dancers who spent a week at the center with choreographer Phyllis Latin to learn the new ballet "Pater Olympian," which Latin's dance company and the Russians will perform in Moscow later this year.

◀ OKSANA KUZMENKO, Dik and two other dancers returned home last week after learning "Pater Olympian," an original ballet written and funded by financier Robert G. Hoffman.